OF THE

SCHOOL VISITORS OF THE TOWN OF GRANBY.

We respectfully submit to the citizens of this town a report of the doings of the School Visitors and joint Board of Visitors and Selectmen, for the year ending, July 14th, 1894.

At the Annual meeting of the Board of School Visitors, held on the 12th day of June, 1894, L. C. Spring was elected chairman, and F. J. Jewett secretary for the year, and the same were elected Acting Visitors. At the same meeting the Joint Board made the following appropriations to the several districts, subject to change after the October meeting.

ACTING SCHOOL VISITOR'S REPORT.

As your Acting Visitor, for the past twelve years, it would be surprising if I had not learned something of the art of teaching, and what constitutes a successful school. And it would be still more surprising, if after this experience, I did not wish to secure every possible facility for insuring a system of first rate schools in our town.

One thing I am convinced of is, that this board does not fulfill its duty in simply appropriating money for the support of schools, with an idea that that is all they need to make them successful. It should lend its moral influence towards the same end. Visit, and become acquainted with their needs, learn what constitutes successful teaching, and that teachers need and must have the support and encouragement of the school board, the parents of the children, and even the tax payer who has no children.

The co-operation of the parents and all good citizens, with the teachers and school officers, is indispensable to the good results desired. Alas that the parent or citizen should wait to have his best interests called out and made plain to him by either the good or poor work of a teacher. Rather should he demand the best and show his willingness to provide the necessary facilities for procuring that, and nothing less. Alas that we should show our willingness to put up-with cheaper work or be satisfied with a lower standard, when the standing of our commonwealth depends so much upon the character of its citizens, and fhe citizen so much upon the character of the common school to fit him for his private and public duties.

Teaching now days is a profession. A good education does not imply a knowledge of the science and practice of teaching any more than plenty of money implies a knowledge of the mercantile or manufacturing business, or plenty of brains implies a knowledge of the practice of law. Teachers must acquire their fitness through the training schools, or by large experience, and in either case can demand by right, a reasonable compensation for their services. And our children entrusted to this kind of care, will in their mental, moral and physical development pay larger dividends than can be had or enjoyed from any other investment. We now and then lose a good teacher because some neighboring town is willing to pay more than we are for her services, and we content ourselves in supplying the place with inferior ability, simply because it can be secured at less cost, and in our lethargy losing sight of every other consideration except that of pecuniary economy.

I wish our Board and the people would awake to the importance of continuing in service indefinitely all our true and tried teachers, and provide the necessary means, within reasonable limits, to secure this end. I believe this consummation could be brought about if this Board would better acquaint itself with the schools and their needs.

The schools assigned me to visit were Nos. 2, 6, 8, 10 and 11, and these were without exception well conducted.

No. 2, under Miss Clara Hayes as teacher was badly broken up in the winter term by the prevalence of diphtheria in two families, but the fall and spring terms were successful. When she took the school it was rather backward and inclined to be noisy and inattentive, but it was restored to a good condition, and I was pleased with what she had accomplished.

No. 6 was in charge of Miss Myra Godard, and it would only be a repetition of what has been said several times before with reference to her work, that it is of a high order of excellence, both in methods and discipline, and always with a fixed purpose to accomplish good results.

No. 8 was in the care of Miss Mattie Holcomb and although a young, inexperienced teacher she did a very creditable work. Having known her as a faithful scholar, I was confident she could conduct a good school, and she did so with good satisfaction.

No 10 was cared for by that tried and faithful teacher, Mrs. F. Edna Stratton, here good methods prevailed, splendid judgment in handling young children, first rate discipline without any tyranny, original methods of correcting errors' so that these corrections were lasting, and the prompt and steady attendance as shown by the school register testified to this teacher's popularity as well as her efficient services.

The school in No. 11 was conducted by Miss Amelia Godard and here first-rate judgment prevailed in every line of her work, and was manifest every day, her bright intelligence is a guiding star in her school all the time. Her methods are the best and her success a conspicuous fact.

F. J. JEWETT, Secretary and Acting School Visitor.

To the Board of School Visitors and citizens of Granby I humbly and respectfully submit this my report of the six schools allowed me to visit and look after the past year, viz: the two in district No. 1 with Miss Hattie Hayes the entire year in higher room, and Miss Lelia Hayes, fall and spring terms and Miss Ida Hayes, winter term, as teachers. School in district No. 3 with Miss Alice L. Case, teacher. No. 4 with Miss Stella Jewett, fall and winter terms, Miss Grace Hayes, spring term, teachers. No. 5 with Miss Mary Miller of Barkhamsted, teacher the entire year. No. 9 with Miss Etta Wilcox teacher the entire year. In no instance can I say I am fully satisfied, yet I believe that for many years there has not been so great an effort manifested by the teachers to succeed and realizing that success largely depends upon attendance and that regular, they have labored for this and thus the registers show a very satisfactory average attendance.

The work in the higher department of No. 1 has been well done. Each branch of study was a specialty and each class a selected one. The best order prevailed. The lower room is always pleasant to visit and quite a fair advancement was made, yet the same was hindered somewhat by certain boys in the winter term who were not willing to abide by the rules of the school, but this element did not appear in the spring term,

Schools in districts Nos. 3, 5 and 9 which are our smallest in number have all increased in interest. No. 5 has gained in numbers, 15 being registered at one time. No. 9 is our most profitable small school, the pupils have taken great interest in their studies and are improving each day, the grade of scholarship ranks high. No. 4 numbering the most of any school in town, has been under good discipline during the year, and we cannot reasonably ask for a better result in so large a school and particularly so where the school work has been divided between two teachers.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Granby.—By virtue of my office as town health officer, and in pursuance of the Statutes, Section 8, Chapter 248, of the Public Acts of 1893, made and provided I respectfully submit my report for the year ending Sept. 1st, 1894, to your honorable attention

I was appointed town health officer Sept. 1st, 1893. The health of our people previous to this new law of 1893 was cared for by the old superanuated and worn out "town health board,"—worn out because in small towns it was a dead letter and difficult to find in case of an emergency.

At the present time the law is such that only one man, and he a physician trained in such work, can be called upon in cases of necessity to examine immediately such cases as need his attention, and he is assisted by the Statutes in a way to give him power to act, to strike a blow at the root of the evil and remove it. October 14th there came under my personal observation as physician three cases of measles, two in one family and one in another. I applied all the scientific methods available to prevent the spread of the contagion of the disease and no unpleasant results followed.

October 30th of same year examined case of typhoid fever which proved to be a very serious malady, but finally by a great effort the patient made a good recovery. I acted promptly in the matter, resorted to the usual methods in such cases made and provided, and as far as ascertainable there was no bad results.

November 27th of same year received report from Dr. Chatfield of North Granby of a case of typhoid fever, and upon investigation found that the doctor had anticipated what might have been the result of carelessness on the part of the family, and had therefore taken every precaution to avoid a repetition of the disease,

November 23d my attention was called by the selectmen to a report that was being circulated in West Granby to the effect that there might be some contagious disease there. I immediately called at the house in question and made the following discovery. Found a boy dangerously ill with diphtheria of the most malignant type. Found several brothers in same house slightly sick. I acted energetically in the matter and insisted in my orders being carried out to their literal meaning, and at once, the family acquiescing in every particular, only too anxious to do all in their power for others. I ordered that the boy be removed to the furthermost room in the house, that none be allowed in the room except those whose presence was necessary to give proper care to patient, that all clothing which was in contact or had been near patient since he manifested any signs of sickness, be destroyed by fire, that the furniture in sick room, except what was absolutely necessary, be removed and washed with boiling water, a solution of bichloride of murcury, and be painted, and that no person be allowed on or about the premises without my permission, that no mail matter be sent from the house, that the dogs and cats be confined away from the neighborhood, that the children of the family be instructed to remain away from the street,those who were well enough to be about. I ordered the schools closed until further notice. Four of the members of the family died within a short time, and were buried within thirty-six hours of such deaths. No public burial was permitted, neither did the family wish any, as they very acutely realized the great responsibility which they owed the community to exercise caution and not to endanger the lives of their friends.

January 1894, visited at the request of Rev. Mr. Case his home and there found his little boy fatally sick with diphtheria, and in spite of all that medical skill would accomplish, the patient died and was buried privately.

Rev. Mr. Case is the pastor of the Methodist church in West Granby, he is also a physician and was the medical attendant upon the family where the four children died, He exercised the greatest caution in his communication with the family, and was disinfected thoroughly every time he entered the house, but after all the germs of the disease found their way to his home and one member of that home was stricken down. There now being another source of contagion I concentrated my energy even more if possible and placed the house under the strictest quarantine regulations, allowing no one to enter except the doctor and nurse. Everything about the house that could be spared was destroyed by fire. Services in the church were discontinued until further notice. The schools where these boys attended at the time they were taken sick was fumigated thoroughly, the books and papers belonging to the little ones were subjected to the most rigid examination and fumigation before they could be used for any purpose.

Quarantine was not removed from either of these places for 30 days and in the interim the houses were completely renovated outside and in; walls, ceilings and floors were papered, whitewashed and painted, everything was scoured with disinfectants until no germs could remain, and, there being no return of the disease to this day, it is only just to conclude that my efforts in behalf of the public were followed by success.

In this town our roads are clean, our water supply almost perfect hygienically speaking, barns and outhouses are far removed from public view so as not to annoy the most fastidious, therefore we have no nuisances to remove.

I examined the schools and buildings thereto and by having my suggestions carried out in a few instances, can report that all our schools are in excellent condition, speaking from a sanitary point of view. The chief difficulty with country school houses is the rude way in which they are ventilated, sufficient care is not observed in building such places to have the rooms arranged so that outside air is supplied constantly to purify that which may be very badly contaminated inside. Opening windows and doors is the usual method of ventilation, and that is often a source of damage to the children therein.

Teachers have been notified to report to me of any case of contagious disease that may come under their notice.

Have examined water supply from time to time and find it free from pollution. The water comes from a brook situated a considerable distance from the village, and it is distributed to the people by pipes leading from a pump near said brook. In North Granby, a village in this town, the inhabitants are supplied with water from wells and springs on their own premises, and frequent examinations fail to detect any danger from such supplies.

We have two physicians in town of the regular school of medicine and no nondescripts or midwives or patent medicine men. All who prescribe here are registered by law.

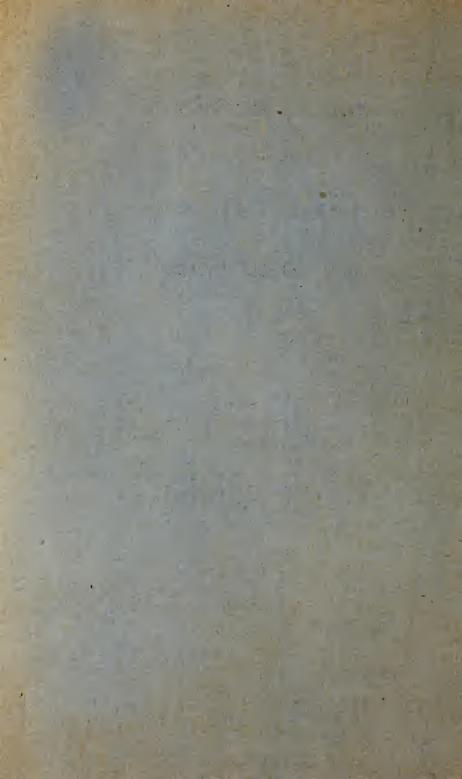

In concluding I will say that the health of our citizens in general is excellent. The public welfare is all that could be desired.

I am, very respectfully,

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL VISITORS OF THE TOWN OF GRANBY.

We respectfully submit to the citizens of the town a report of the doings of the School Visitors and joint Board of Visitors and Selectmen for the year ending July 14, 1895.

At the annual meeting held June 18, 1895, L. C. Spring was elected chairman and acting visitor, and F. J. Jewett was elected secretary and acting visitor for the coming year. At the same meeting the joint board made the following appropriations to the several districts for the year ending July 14, 1896, subject to revision after the October election.

ACTING SCHOOL VISITOR'S REPORT.

As your acting school visitor, I am glad to be able to report a very satisfactory condition of the schools for the past year, and an increased interest, apparently, on the part of the public. The school registers are neatly and accurately kept by the teachers, and there is hardly an instance now where I cannot obtain all the information I need; also what is called for, from time to time, by the State authorities, from these registers. They also show a very commendable interest on the part of the parents of the pupils and others, there having been noted on the registers during the year, three hundred and fortyfour (344) visits made to the schools of this town by school officers and others; and it is a noticeable fact that the schools that have received the most attention in this way are the ones that show the most prompt and best average attendance, confirming the dcctrine that I have advocated for years in my reports, that if the parents will visit the schools and note the standing of their own children, some will find that the cause of their children's backwardness lies at their own door, rather than with the teacher or school officers, and others will find to their satisfaction that the cause of the splendid showing made by their children is due to their encouragement and insistence of a prompt and regular attendance.

Encourage the teacher by your friendship and personal interest in her success, and you make her efforts for good one hundred per cent. more effective.

The returns from district committees, in three or four instances, have not been so prompt nor complete as I desire, and should I be called upon for certain information that the committee is expected to furnish, I should have to look elsewhere for it.

I think I may consider myself fortunate in having the schools to visit that were assigned me for the last year.

The higher department in the first district, taught by Miss Hattie Hayes, was in excellent condition for the entire year. Her methods are always good, and thoroughness prevails in everything. She made a special effort to overcome a bad habit in that school,—that of tardiness and absence from school—and succeeded very well. The whole number of different scholars attending for the year was twenty-three, and there were but forty tardy marks on the register,—less than two for each pupil for the entire year of thirty-six weeks; and the average attendance was 80 per cent. of the registration,—a good showing—much better than for several years past. She had thirty-eight visitors, mostly the parents of the children and teachers from other schools.

The school in No. 2 was in charge of Miss Clara Hayes for two terms—fall and winter—and Miss Alma Thompson for the spring term. The improvement made in habits of study, good order, and attention showed itself in more perfect recitations and in a greater interest in the welfare of the school. When I began visiting this school in 1893, the first class was in the elementary arithmetic. I thought this backward for children from 12 to 14 years of age, and I suggested they take the next higher book immediately, and the result proved the wisdom of the change. From that time they seemed to take a new interest, not only that particular class, but the others; and steady progress has prevailed to the present time.

Miss Thompson's work in the spring term demonstrated her capacity for maintaining good discipline and accomplishing good results. And I am glad to learn that she is employed for the year to come, and I predict a successful year. The whole number of different scholars in this school for the year was twenty-eight. There were about fifty tardy marks, and the average attendance was 80 per cent. of the registration.

No. 4 was in charge of Miss Myra Godard. This is one of the largest schools in town, and requires a capacity to handle which not many teachers possess. To keep such a school busy and reasonably quiet, with the large number of class recitations and the almost infinite number of questions to answer during the day, requires a patience, self-command, and ready wit which, if not rare, is seldom called into activity to such an extent as in this school. The good condition of the school testifies to the manner in which the duties and requirements are fulfilled and performed by the teacher and scholars, and the unanimity with which the district called upon her to preside over the school for another year, at an increased salary, further testifies to her successful work for the past year. I can hardly specify, for the parents of the little ones seem to be satisfied that they are not neglected, but are doing well, and the older ones say they never did better. What more can we expect or ask for a school so large and with only one teacher? The scholarship ranks high; the average attendance is 84½ per cent. of the registration; there were 48 different scholars during the year, and only 25 tardy marks.

The 9th school was in the care of Miss Etta Wilcox, as it has been for several years, and this last year was only a continuation of her good and successful work. The scholarship of this school ranks high. The average attendance was 82½ per cent. of the registration. The whole number of different scholars during the year was 12, with thirty tardy marks.

The school in No. 11 was conducted by Miss Lelia M. Hayes one term, the fall; and by Mr. Harold E. Howard of Westfield, Mass., one term, the winter; and if I could judge entirely by their conscientiousness and willingness to do their duty, I should have to pronounce their efforts successful in every respect Miss Hayes gave good satisfaction, but his lack of experience and his rather gruff manner acted rather against perfect success. The little ones were somewhat afraid of him, and the older ones discovered his lack of experience and criticised him somewhat.

The spring term was taught by Miss Fannie E. Gabriel, and she gave the school the benefit of her experience and training as a teacher of fine ability. She gained the confidence and esteem of the children at the start. We were thankful that we could keep her for even one term. The average attendance for the year was $82\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the registration. The whole number of different scholars for the year was 16, and the tardy marks number 20.

F. J. JEWETT,

Acting School Visitor.

To the Board of School Visitors and Citizens of Granby:

I humbly submitthis, my annual school report. I have had the pleasure of paying one visit to each school in town, and have visited (officially) the six schools assigned to me as the law requires, viz.: No. 1, lower department, taught by Miss Gertrude Clark of East Granby, No. 3 fall and winter term being taught by Miss Mary B. Hayes, who has had several years' experience teaching in this town, and always giving good satisfaction. The spring term was in care of Miss Etta Lampson, a resident of that district. No. 5, with Miss Mary P. Miller teacher. No. 6, with Mr. Edgar Loomis of Westfield, Mass., as teacher. No. 8, with Miss Amelia Godard teacher. No. 10, with Miss May L. Case of Simsbury. Miss Case entered the school under discouraging circumstances, and at one time those circumstances and surrounding influences seemed to say failure, but she rallied and gradually rose above them and returned for the winter and spring terms and taught a successful school. Save No. 3, already referred to, the same teacher in each district taught through the year and with good results, yet the discipline could be criticised in some instances.

I would like to call particular attention to the prominent increased interest that the children in No. 5 have taken, having been encouraged by their teacher to that degree that they seem anxious to have good lessons and be present each day. The record of average attendance is evidence of the above, which attendance, I believe, is the best in town. This is not to be looked upon as a mountain school and of but little importance. Also No. 8, showing the importance of continuing first-class work as long as it is appreciated, and, when the change must come, of carefully selecting a candidate to follow, who will wisely continue the work. The influences of the previous four years under Miss Hayes' instruction have lived through the past year. As Miss Godard began her year's work she began to fan that influence, and, with her marked ability to instruct the young mind, she succeeded in accomplishing the best results. The finest general discipline prevailed. In my school work I have not only tried to do duty as far as the law requires, but study the schools and their needs that this great object for which the children are attending school may in more cases be realized; and close observation brings many questions to my mind. Frequently questions of this nature present themselves to my mind: Does the right relation exist between teacher and pupil? Does one pupil discover that he is less attractive to the teacher than another? Is the teacher less interested in one than another? Never should the teacher allow the least feeling of partiality to enter the work - neither appear more affectionate to one pupil. Does the right relation between parents and schools exist? This is a matter of great importance, which requires more of a certain kind of attention than it has received. That the parent should be anxious for the welfare of the school is not doubted. That the parent is always so anxious is not true. Too often the anxiety is only for his own child. If his child receives what he calls proper attention, and is continually being pushed out of the class where he belongs toward the next higher, and is never corrected, but allowed to do as he pleases, he seems satisfied. Such is certainly narrow-mindedness. This spirit leads to frequent interference in matters that ought to be left wholly to the Board of Visitors or teacher. The result is evil, and only evil, both to the child and school. According to my observation the greatest amount of fault is found by those who know the least of the school. far, without exception, the parent who has brought complaint to me, upon being asked if he had visited the school, replied no. Frequent sympathetic visitations of the schools by parents would contribute much to the value of the work done. It would remedy the evil of absenteeism, which parents are almost solely responsible for. Children are kept at home for simple reasons, and, too often, for no reasons. Harm is done to those who are faithful in attendance. Classes are disorganized, a spirit of inattention pervades the whole school. It demands the immediate attention of parents and all well-wishers of schools. One word for the other side. In four of our districts the parents visit, some making it their duty to visit once each term, others at least once a year, and those are the schools that we report the best regular attendance and in best condition generally. Our schoolhouses are generally in good condition. The room in No. 5 greatly needs painting. Some of the outhouses must be looked after immediately, as they are not in proper condition.

Respectfully, L. C. SPRING,
Acting Visitor.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Granby:

In compliance with the statutes of the State of Connecticut, Section 8, Chapter 248, of the Public Acts of 1893, I respectfully submit to your honorable attention my report as health officer for the year ending August 31.

With the exception of the occurrence of seven cases of measles reported to have happened during the month of June, and one of these cases was the source of the rest, also two fatal cases of membraneous croup which occurred during the month of August — with these exceptions, I say, Granby has been very free from contagious and pestilential diseases, which fact is very gratifying indeed to our people.

The mortality in town has been moderately low, notwithstanding we have among our inhabitants some very aged people, which fact is indicative of the belief that Granby is the place in which to live.

The water supply, in as far as quality and quantity is concerned, reaches as near perfection as possible, the water being conveyed to the residential portion of the village of Salmon Brook from a pond situated about a mile from the center, by means of iron pipes, thence distributed to the different dwellings by the same method, also to a very convenient watering-tub placed at the public square, which is in itself of inestimable value.

The inhabitants of the villages of West and North Granby are supplied with water from springs and wells, situated in most cases upon their own premises. Sometimes the water for drinking purposes alone is conveyed to the houses by means of lead pipes, several cases of which I have observed, and at such times I caution the families that to continue the use of such pipes sometimes leads to sad results. Therefore, it is better to know you are safe than to think you are; so if iron pipes are used instead of lead ones much possible danger might be avoided, for it is easier to shun peril than to try to extricate ourselves when danger is upon us. I consider it my duty to advise persons who will continue to use lead pipes that the streams from them should be of sufficient force as not to allow particles of metallic substance from which the pipes are made to contaminate the water, since pollution is certain to be the result should these particles remain in the water any length of time.

Caution should be one of the most busily engaged arts of our lives whenever the subject ought to be so dear to our hearts is contemplated; that is, "what will most conduce to the welfare of my family and keep them healthy and strong. A little human flower just budding into fragrance and beauty may be blasted because of some error that has been undiscovered in the sanitary arrangements of our homes." Let everyone be careful about allowing odors to arise from the sink-pipes or drains, for while the odor is of itself harmless, it proclaims in no uncertain tones the sad intelligence that fatal gases are forming and grim death is about to burst forth.

I have examined the schoolhouses and the buildings thereto, and find they are in the most excellent condition as far as the surroundings are concerned; but in regard to the buildings being properly ventilated, I consider them to be in a neglected state. The methods in use now for supplying fresh air are faulty and, to some degree, dangerous; for if the doors and windows are open, which is the only means for furnishing the atmosphere under the present condition of things, the children are exposed to drafts, thereby developing colds which might become of very serious import, especially in the fall and winter—the very time when thorough ventilation is of the utmost importance, for the reason that to be comfortable the doors and windows are kept closed—a greater part of the time, at least.

Surely the prosperity and welfare of our nation depends on the thoroughness of the education we impart to our children. Also we must not be unmindful of that all-important fact that future generations will be only able to improve the learning we give them—a priceless legacy, to be sure—just in proportion to the health, vigor, and strength we transmit to those generations; so, while it is of great importance to require our pupils to be diligent in their studies and improve each shining hour, yet the teacher and those in authority are, or should be, held partly responsible, at least, for the physical well-being of the child. Another consideration in regard to the subject of ventilation should be spoken of—that is in relation to the heating the building—for it is a fact that the purer the air is in a room the less fuel will be required to make said room comfortable; so on the basis of economy it is best to purify.

For the benefit of those who are uninformed on the subject, I will say that no dead animals, garbage, putrid animal or vegetable matter will be allowed to be thrown into any pond or brook, or deposited in any lot or on the ground, but must be buried or burned: and if any of the above-mentioned products are found thus, such action shall be considered a misdemeaner committed by the owner, and he will be complained of.

In conclusion, will say that our people are generally willing and ready to co-operate with the health officer in the discharge of his duties, so that the results of his labors are gratifying to all.

I am, very respectfully yours,

Town Health Officer.

NED E. KENDALL, AUDITORS. HENRY G. VIETS,

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL VISITORS

OF THE

TOWN OF GRANBY.

We respectfully submit to the citizens of the town the following report of the doings of the Board of School Visitors, and Joint Board of Visitors and Selectmen for the year ending July 14, 1896.

At the annual meeting held June 16, 1896, L. C. Spring was elected chairman and acting visitor, and F. J. Jewett was elected secretary and acting visitor for the coming year. At the same meeting the joint board made the following appropriations to the several districts, subject to revision after the October election. On account of the passage of the law by the last general assembly, increasing the number of school weeks to thirty-six for all schools, the appropriations were increased considerably, as the following will show. Appropriations for the year ending July 14, 1896:

District	No. 1,	$500.00	District	No. 8,	$252.00
"	2,	276.00	"	9,	252.00
"	3,	192.00	"	10,	264.00
"	4,	300.00	, "	11,	252.00
. "	5,	192.00	"	-
"	6,	276.00	Tota	1, $	2,756.00

Number of school children between the ages of 4 and 16 years in the town on the first Monday of October, 1895, was as follows:

District No	o. 1, 56	District No. 8, 18
4.6	2, 24	" 9, 14
"	3, 7	" 10, 22
"	4, 43	" 11, 17
"	5, 13
"	6, 35	Total, 249

Of these, 213 attended school sometime during the last year, 36 did not; of these latter, 19 were under five years of age, 16 between five and eight, and 1 between eight and fourteen years of age. These facts have been returned to the Comptroller as the law requires.

F. J. JEWETT, Secretary.

Acting School Visitors' Reports.

The two schools, or rather, departments, of the First district, taught by Miss Hattie Hayes and Miss Gertie Clark, were as usual well conducted; the class of work done here will, I believe, tend to inspire the children to succeed in whatever they undertake, and to cause them to understand what constitutes good and useful citizenship. It seems to me that the highest interpretation of the purpose of our common school system is to place every boy and girl in a self supporting condition, and to cause them to wish to be respectable and well behaved at all times.

No. 3 was conducted by Miss Belle Griffin, last fall term, and by Miss Lottie Frazier, winter and spring. This continues to be a very small school, hardly interesting enough to call out the best efforts of any teacher. I think the teachers here have been faithful, but the parents do not seem to realize the importance of a regular attendance. The school register looks badly. Of the children who attended last year, only two have anything like a clean record. I think there is a remedy for this condition of things. The law gives the school board the right to establish rules concerning irregularity of attendance; and a rule to withhold the appropriation to this district, unless they make a better showing for the coming year, would, I think, be effective in producing better results.

No. 6 was in charge of Miss Myrtle P. Hakes, last fall and winter terms, and I cannot report favorably for this school during that time. It was very disorderly, the noise and unruly conduct of the children made it impossible to accomplish good results. However good the system of instruction was on the part of the teacher, it was utterly destroyed by the lack of discipline or good government. Miss Belle Griffin succeeded Miss Hakes, and accomplished better results than I thought she could under the circumstances. It is very difficult to remove a condition so demorilized in one term. This school has an intelligent element, and can be made an interesting one, as it has sometimes in the past, and I hope to see it return to its former condition of excellence the coming year.

No. 9 was in charge of Miss Sarah L. Griffin, for the fall term, and Miss Etta M. Wilcox, winter and spring; and although a temporary change of teachers seemed to be necessary, I hardly think the school suffered as a consequence. Miss Wilcox has done such good work for several years in this school that a change of teachers for so short a time could not affect it for the worse. The character of this school is excellent, the instruction is broad and intelligent, and the inhabitants of the district may consider themselves fortunate in being able to conduct their school under such favorable conditions.

Miss Lelia M. Hayes taught the school in the eleventh district for the entire year, and I am able and pleased to report a very successful year. Here good methods prevail, a patient and intelligent treatment of each individual child is the invariable rule, and as a result of this, I find a first-rate school, very satisfactory to the visitor, and I think it must be to the parents.

I have visited several other schools in town besides those assigned me, and I think I am correct in saying that they compare favorably with any of the schools in the country towns in the State. The average attendance has been higher than last year in most of the schools, the teachers having exerted themselves to bring about that result.

The district committees have generally performed their duties cheerfully and properly.

F. J. JEWETT, Acting Visitor.

To the Board of Visitors and Citizens of Granby:

I have the pleasure of humbly submitting, according to my judgment, the condition of the five schools under my care.

Miss Alma M. Thompson of Barkhamsted, taught and governed the school in District No. 2 in a very creditable and satisfactory manner, and to any question which may be asked concerning the year's work, I can conscientiously answer, success.

No. 4, as in several previous terms, was in the hands of Miss Mira Godard, who previously has made a record and shown her marked ability in handling a large school, proved herself no less capable or interested in school work. It is very gratifying to sit through a session and observe the amount of work accomplished. The closing day exercises of the year were very enjoyable to the many parents and friends present, and showed even to the casual observer the result of first-class instruction.

School in No. 5 was taught through the year by Miss Mary P. Miller of Hartland, who has been in the same school several terms, with good results. This school has suffered much by the removal of three of its brightest pupils to another town, whose vacancies have darkened the appearance of a small school.

No. 8, Bushy Hill, which has for several years been reported among the first in scholarship and general discipline, seemed for a time to lose sight of all past good school influences, but regained to a certain extent as time advanced. Miss Walker of Simsbury was engaged to take the fall term, and closed the same at the end of five weeks, necessitating a long winter term, which, with the spring term, was taught by Miss Ida Lee of East Granby, who labored faithfully with her school and employed much of her time outside of school hours for their benefit, and all showed improvement. In some branches there was marked improvement.

School in No. 10, known as Cooley District, has been very profitably taught by Miss Amelia Godard, with every part of the work moving in clock-like order. Life and enthusiasm was noticed in every department, and while the older pupils received the attention and care due them, the little ones were not forgotten, as is the case too often, but were enticed forward in their little studies, and all together made a fine appearance at the close of each term. The room was never allowed disarranged, but always neat, tidy, and cheerful.

The teachers and pupils in Districts Nos. 2 and 8—with which your Acting Visitor with feeling joins—very much regret and mourn the loss of two of our most interesting pupils by death. Miss Lillie Godard and Master Reubie Holcomb. Each was very amiable in their ways, and always studious and perfectly obedient and very regular in attendance. Sad vacancies are caused which never will be filled.

Very respectfully submitted,

L. C. Spring, Acting Visitor.

Report of Health Officer.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Granby:

In compliance with the statutes of the State of Connecticut, section 8, chapter 248, of the Public Acts of 1893, I respectfully submit to your honorable attention my report as health officer, for the year ending August 31, 1896.

The citizens of Granby have always taken a commendable interest in the efforts of the health officer. His work has enlisted the hearty cooperation of all those interested in the welfare of our people. All efforts to protect and improve the public health, and investigations entered into by those in authority to abate nuisances of whatever nature, are thoroughly appreciated, and that appreciation is substantiated by the willingness of those interested to render any assistance possible in maintaining and favorably considering any suggestion made to them concerning such nuisances, and in any devised plan for the improvement of those conditions, which might, under favorable circumstances, be a source of danger if allowed to continue.

Eternal vigilance is the source of happiness and contentment, of inspirations to the heart of mankind, to render strict obedience to all laws appertaining to their physical well being.

In three instances has my attention been brought to the fact that dead animals were left on the surface of the ground during the early part of the summer, or were only partially buried. In each of these cases a mere suggestion of the evil and danger arising from such source seemed to be entirely sufficient to remind the owners thereof that nuisances of that character could not be allowed to exist; therefore, the remedy was applied immediately; giving conclusive evidence, it seemed to me, that these cases were due more to negligence than to any desire to antagonize, or from any spirit of disobedience of the laws which govern the community.

I have made a thorough inspection of our school houses and the buildings thereto, and found them in a very good condition hygienically speaking, that is, as far as being located in the proximity to any source of contamination is considered, or in so far as there being any filth accumulations in or about the buildings; but as to their being properly ventilated, so as to conduce to the best comfort to our little ones, considerable fault can be found; and the manifestations of impatience on the part of the teachers and parents is, or scems to be, perfectly justifiable when one considers that the only way, under the present existing conditions, for the teacher to freshen the atmosphere of the school room is to open the doors and windows, and this can only be done with safety while the children are at recess or absent at noon, for to allow a draft to blow on the children is often times a source of danger.

The purpose of ventilation is to constantly supply the inmates of a room with pure air from without, also to give egress to the contaminated atmosphere from within, and in order to accomplish this result, some means should be devised whereby the equilibrium of air can be maintained continually. I have suggested to each teacher a plan, which, if adopted, will, I am positive, not only be a practical benefit to the children, but very inexpensive, which is to be considered as an important item.

In accord, and with the wish of the County Health Officers, I have funigated and disinfected the school houses and surroundings, and which wish was also embodied in a resolution passed at the quarterly meeting of the State Board of Health. While we realize the improbability of an epidemic emanating from one of our school houses, yet, should a case present itself which might have been avoided by thorough fumigation and disinfection, we should forever feel guilty if any remonstrance was offered by our people against the wise and timely action taken by the State Board of Health.

We have in Granby a population of 1,250, and during the year ending August 31st, there has been only 24 deaths which, considering the fact that we have nearly 40 persons 80 years of age, and a few upwards of 90, and many at 70, in town, it would seem as if Granby ought to be classed as one of the delightful places where is to be found a home.

I find that all the school children are not vaccinated, and while in a few cases the neglect to have it done is due to some feeling of antagonism on the part of the parent or a natural reluctance about the operation, in other instances indifference may be the cause.

While it is not incumbent on the part of the parent by law to have their children vaccinated, yet it is of so much consequence to the welfare of the community, that it should be considered a pleasant duty to insist on such an operation being done on every child.

One of the greatest blessings vouchsafed to man is that we have at our command means which, while it is not absolutely infallible as a protection, it has been to the world a boon, the appreciation of which is almost beyond power to express.

There has been four cases of measles reported to me during the year, and in each case the contagion was brought here from out of the town. Great care was taken and quarantine regulations were applied, and the disease was checked before it had attacked but three in one family, and two in two of the families, and one in each of the others.

Have had two cases of typhoid fever reported, and three instances of it having occurred in my own practice. Those reported were of unknown origin. In the cases occurring in my own practice, one, I believe, originated from the drinking water, there having been a small quantity of the dejections from a patient similarly affected several years before placed carelessly near the well used by the family with which my patient lived, and from which was taken the water drank by this patient.

In the other two cases the disease was very mild, as was indeed the fact with all of them, and they originated, I think, from bad sewerage arrangements.

There has been no cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria, membraneous croup, whooping cough, cerebro-spinal fever or small pox reported to me.

Garbage is disposed of by fire. In the spring and fall huge bonfires are built in the lots where dry filth has accumulated during the summer, and the results of such disposal must be satisfactory as far as danger is concerned.

Sewage matter is disposed of by being buried somewhere on the farm, far enough removed from any dwelling to avoid any danger of contamination by perculation into the drinking water or by causing offensive odors.

Granby has never made any public provision for contageous diseases, as patients suffering from such are bountifully and safely cared for in their homes, and there being no paupers of any number, and also being without a town house, it never was considered by the town fathers necessary to provide a pest house or hospital.

The sanitary conditions of our public buildings are excellent, and have always been considered so. The basements of both buildings are clean and wholesome, dry and comfortable,—no filth is allowed to accumulate any where about the structures. One building is used partly for church purposes and also for a public library upstairs, while the other building is exclusively a public library.

The water supply of our town is as near perfect as it is possible to make it as far as its conveyance to the dwellings and its quality is concerned. Occasionally, in the winter and during the very warm summer, it will slightly annoy the people by its being shut off from its source by the ice, or being low at the reservoir in summer.

The water comes from a large brook about a mile from the village, from whence it is conveyed to the residential portion of the village of Salmon Brook by means of iron pipes. This water is clear, wholesome and pure, and as far as I can ascertain there has never been a case of sickness that could in any way be attributable to its use.

The inhabitants of the villages of North and West Granby are supplied with water from wells and springs, usually located on the land of the family using it, and the care taken to keep such wells and springs in good condition is sufficient that no apprehensions on the part of the owner thereof is ever felt.

Our milk supply is perfect, for the reason that nearly everybody is the owner of one or more cows, and therefore every one would have the greatest incentive to give his own family pure milk.

In conclusion, will say that I hope this report embodies all the essential facts pertaining to my office, to the entire satisfaction of the selectmen, and to those to whom it will be given.

Very respectfully yours,

DR. ALFRED WEED, Town Health Officer.
